Big Iron 6

A film by Bernhard Roes

JOHN DEERE puts the pedal to the metal. Articulated tractors used to be the company's poor relation. Not any more! With their 9030 models, John Deere has market leader CASE-IH STEIGER in their sights.

The CHALLENGER tracked tractor specialists prove that is not all that they excel at: This time, they put their power machine on wheels. The MT900B is the world's most powerful tractor built in series.

The Russians are coming! They have arrived in Winnipeg. Using a capital injection from Moscow, BÜHLER VERSATILE start their offensive.

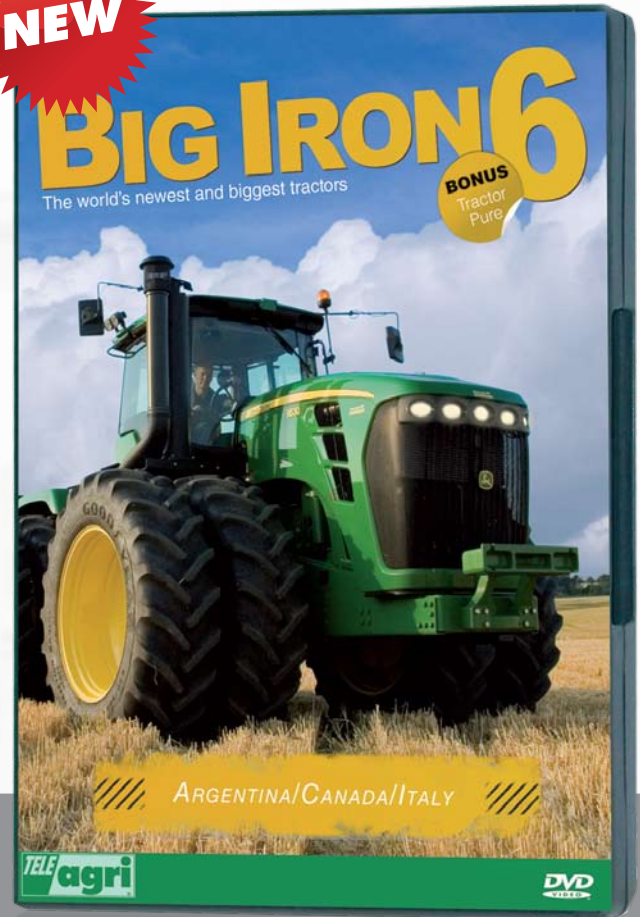

The newest and biggest tractors are found all over the world. Whether in Canada, Argentina or Italy, they are greeted with enthusiasm wherever they turn up.

Big Iron in pictures

Authors : Dieter Theyssen, Bernhard Roes and Peter D. Simpson

200 pages

‘Big Iron in pictures’ is an illustrated book featuring more than 120 different tractors and more than 300 colour photographs. This publication gives background information and technical details for many of the largest and most powerful agricultural tractors from America, Canada, Australia, Europe, Russia and South Africa. By relaying anecdotes, reminiscences and historical facts about the various tractors and the men who made them happen, the reader gains a multi-faceted insight into the development of big tractors over the past 40 years. The largest tractor of the world, Big Bud 16V-747, and the largest prototype built by Versatile in Canada, Big Roy 1080, are further examples of world famous machines presented in detail in this volume. Big Iron in pictures can be read independent of other publications but is also an ideal companion for the ‘Big Iron’ series of DVDs.
